

Underground Railroad History Recommended Online Resources

There are many websites with great information and educational curriculum-based resources available to learn more about the subjects surrounding the Underground Railroad.

General Information & Educational Curriculum Materials

National Park Service Network to Freedom

<https://www.nps.gov/orgs/1205/index.htm>

Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History

<https://www.gilderlehrman.org/>

National Archives

<https://www.archives.gov/>

Library of Congress

<https://www.loc.gov/>

PBS "Africans in America" series

<https://www.pbs.org/wgbh/aia/home.html>

Videos

Georgia Public Broadcasting- Learn about Georgia freedom seekers William & Ellen Craft

How William and Ellen Craft escaped slavery - YouTube

Educational Curriculum

Maryland State Archives- Stories of Flight from Maryland

<https://msa.maryland.gov/msa/speccol/sc5500/sc5572/000001/000000/000189/html/t189.html>

Teacher's Study Guide

Stealing Freedom (Children's book about Ann Maria Weems escape)

www.elisacarbone.com/educators/StealingFreedomStudyGuide.html

National Underground Railroad Freedom Center

<https://freedomcenter.org/learn/online-learningresources/>

National Constitution Center

<https://constitutioncenter.org/>

Smithsonian's History Explorer

<https://historyexplorer.si.edu/>

Dickinson College- House Divided, Digital Underground Railroad Classroom

https://housedivided.dickinson.edu/ugrr/lesson\_plans.html

Scholastic Teacher Activity Guide- Underground Railroad

<https://sn2.scholastic.com/issues/2019-20/030220.html>

Prologue to Teaching the Emancipation Proclamation. Center for History and News Media

<https://teachinghistory.org/best-practices/teaching-in-action/21706>

Links to other websites does not constitute an endorsement by Montgomery Parks/M-NCPPC. We are not responsible for, do not control nor monitor the content of these sites or the accuracy of the information found therein.